Chief Executive Officer Not-For-Profit

London, Ontario|FT-Permanent

Organization

St. Joseph's Health Care Society, since 1993, has been providing compassionate care in all its sponsors' organizations. As owner and sponsor of St. Joseph's Health Care London, St. Joseph's Hospice London, and St. Joseph's Hospice Sarnia Lambton, and supporters of other ministries, the Society seeks to serve as good stewards, paying specific attention, in a compassionate and collaborative manner, to issues of social justice in the management of the hospital and hospices and in the delivery of care. The Society strives to listen to all voices, seek inclusiveness, and balance the needs of the unique individual with the common good of the community.

Mission

"To ensure that the hospital, hospices and other ministries, bearing the name "St. Joseph's" continue to exemplify the approach to care that the Sisters of St. Joseph established through their long and honoured history and to maintain the healing mission of Jesus."

Job Summary

St. Joseph's Health Care Society is now actively seeking a driven, collaborative CEO to provide compassionate, visionary leadership in accordance with the Mission, policies, standards and objectives established by the Board and legislation.

Under the Board's direction, the CEO will represent, manage, and lead the operations of the Society including strategic oversight, integration and coordination of services, policy formation, financial stability, and financial budgeting/reporting. While working collaboratively with St. Joseph's Health Care London as well as Provincial and National Catholic healthcare partners, this insightful, politically astute CEO will faithfully safeguard and promote the Society's goals and objectives.

Leading with integrity and adhering to the Mission and Values of the Society, the CEO will continue to support a positive and healthy work environment that embodies a culture of care, compassion, openness, accountability, quality improvement, and collaboration. A naturally inspiring communicator, the CEO will influence change across multiple organizations while enhancing the continued viability of Provincial and National Catholic healthcare. The CEO will also act as the Society's spokesperson to reinforce the organization's community profile.

In addition, the CEO will ensure the continued growth and sustainability of existing and future potential hospices in Southwestern Ontario. A priority of the CEO will be to strengthen the identity, Mission, and culture of the hospices, and the successful merging of best practices as well as the administrative and operational functions.

To qualify for this unique, exciting opportunity, the successful candidate must have proven senior leadership and strategic planning experience, coupled with a University Degree in Business, Commerce, or a related field of study – a Master's degree will be strongly preferred. Experience working within a healthcare setting or Not-For-Profit environment will be a definite asset. Your experience working with a Board of Directors to implement strategies and initiatives to improve overall operations will be critical. As a highly collaborative, innovative, and results-oriented senior leader, your strong financial and business acumen will surely position you for success. In addition, as a systems-wide thinker, you will have demonstrated excellent interpersonal skills to form viable relationships with key stakeholders and community partners for the benefit of the Society.
